Annual Review 2006

Barnardo's
GIVING CHILDREN BACK THEIR FUTURE
In my first year as chief executive, I want to pay tribute to two people who have played an enormous part in shaping the organisation that I now have the privilege to lead. The first of these is Sir Roger Singleton, who retired last December after serving the organisation for over 30 years. His contribution to Barnardo’s was outstanding and he will be a very tough act to follow.

This year also marks the departure of a long-serving trustee and chair of Council, Dr David Barnardo. David, the great, great nephew of our founder, Thomas Barnardo, retires in October after 25 years’ service as a dedicated trustee. I am very grateful for all the support he has provided to me in my first year and for giving me the opportunity to lead Barnardo’s. It will seem very odd indeed not to have his guiding hand at the tiller. This review of our work is intentionally concise, but I hope it captures the vital role Barnardo’s plays in the lives of so many vulnerable children and young people from birth through to 20+. It describes an organisation with great strengths, outstanding staff and committed volunteers. It is an organisation I feel privileged to lead and I am determined that we shall extend our work to more children and help change their lives.

Welcome from Martin Narey

The best of our work

Barnardo’s marked the Centenary of the death of its founder, Dr Thomas Barnardo, with a series of events to show the organisation’s commitment to keeping his vision alive through our contemporary work. In September, a gala weekend saw a special Centenary Thanksgiving Service in the Barnardo’s Village Church which included the Bishop of Stepney and the London Community Gospel Choir. Birmingham shoppers were treated to a major all-day event including the launch of 1,000 balloons (pictured), which was a massive awareness raising success.

Barnardo’s cASHES in with Pietersen

Barnardo’s was presented with a major donation by Ashes cricketing hero Kevin Pietersen. Kevin (right), who began a long-term relationship with Barnardo’s in 2005, donated the $210,000 he was awarded by city brokerage firm BGC Partners for his outstanding performance at the Oval.

Well rewarded

Six children aged 9 to 13 involved in a Junior Challenge, run in partnership by the Barnardo’s Matrix project in Alloa and Clackmannanshire Council’s Children and Youth Work Team, were awarded first place in the Scottish Executive’s ‘Let’s Stop Bullying Awards 2006’. As part of the health category, the group produced and recorded a rap song promoting anti-bullying and distributed information on how to cope with bullying and harassment.

Well done Northern Ireland!

Barnardo’s Northern Ireland project, Parenting Matters, and the Northern Ireland Prison Service jointly produced a booklet It’s a Tough Time for Everyone to help children cope with having a parent in prison. Written as a comic book, the booklet won the award for best information leaflet at the Scope Communication awards run by the Northern Ireland Council for Voluntary Action. ‘Sometimes children can be forgotten when someone is sent to prison,’ said Deirdre Sloan of Parenting Matters. ‘This booklet encourages children to talk to someone about how they feel.’

Student programme gets ‘6 appeal’

Barnardo’s student programme launched its ‘6 appeal’ campaign to increase awareness amongst students of Barnardo’s work and to encourage them to volunteer. It’s the first time Barnardo’s has recognised the incredible work student volunteers do on such a scale.

Simply the best!

An event to reward outstanding achievement in workforce development across the social care sector saw Barnardo’s Yorkshire and North East walk away with first place in the category for the best employer of over 250 staff. The awards, which cover adult, children and young people’s social care services, were hosted by Skills for Care – formerly Topps England.

Rotary International

Barnardo’s Chances for Children year-long appeal was launched at Rotarians at the Rotary International Great Britain & Ireland’s RIBI Assembly in 2006 by Barnardo’s vice president, Floella Benjamin OBE (left). Peter Offer, president of RIBI during 2006/07, said: ‘I am delighted that Rotarians across Great Britain and Ireland are able to help in getting the message across of just how Barnardo’s is making a real difference to thousands of young people and their families who are faced with abuse, homelessness, poverty and the challenges of disability.’

Campaigning for all children

Barnardo’s campaigns to raise awareness and bring about lasting improvements for vulnerable children in the UK. Amongst our campaigns in 2005/06 were:

Campaigning for carers

Around 175,000 children in the UK provide care to another family member who has a physical illness or disability, mental ill health or a problematic use of drugs or alcohol. Barnardo’s raised awareness of young carers during the 2005 Christmas campaign. Young people from Barnardo’s Liverpool Action with Young Carers project also had the opportunity to tell MPs their own stories of caring for a parent with mental health problems at the Conservative and Liberal Democrat Party Conferences.

Sexual exploitation

Barnardo’s was delighted that the government accepted the need to protect young people in its Co-ordinated Prostitution Strategy, announced in January 2006. ‘In the last year Barnardo’s has worked with more than 2,000 young people who have been drawn into prostitution, and was instrumental in working with the government as it formulated the new strategy.

The strategy seeks to prevent children being drawn into prostitution, helps those who are trapped to find a way out, and concentrates on bringing to justice the adults who condemn children to such misery.

Homeless families

A Barnardo’s report described the problems faced by children and families placed in temporary accommodation who experience frequent moves. Do my kids have to live like this forever? highlighted the impact on children of being constantly moved around and how families are kept in limbo while waiting to be re-housed.
Beyond the beautiful landscapes in Anglesey, many families suffer from high levels of unemployment in the towns, while in rural locations, isolation and lack of play facilities can profoundly affect children. The Rural Family Service promotes the development of children under four by running créches and other play activities in the towns and outlying areas. The Gwelfor Playtime crèche in Holyhead is for children who have specific needs. These may include concern about speech or physical development, health, social isolation as well as problems regarding family stress, domestic violence or drug abuse.

‘Playtime provides children with the chance to interact with others, while their parents get some space,’ explains playworker, Iona.

Joanne has used the crèche for both of her children. ‘Ifan likes mixing with the other kids, and being able to run around and make a noise,’ she says. ‘As a full-time mum, it gives me time out and stops them getting bored with me.’

The crèche encourages children to choose what they want to do, from playing with toys, hearing stories, painting and much more.

‘My older son came here and it really helped him,’ Joanne adds. ‘He was a happy child but he didn’t know how to play with others. After coming here for a year, he was ready for school and is doing well there.’

Positive outcomes
- Childcare service is provided in Anglesey, supporting parenting and child development for families with children aged 0–11.
- Services are targeted at those in greatest need.
- Local communities are involved in planning services.

Barnardo’s has 91 projects working with young children, overcoming barriers to give children the chance to play.
When her children were born, Saira didn’t know anyone could help her. Sumayyah, now 13, was born with learning disabilities. Rumaysah, now 9, had problems with her hip, knees and feet and needs to use a wheelchair. Although living in an extended family, Saira had no help with her children until she was referred to Barnardo’s Apna project. ‘I was really struggling,’ remembers Saira. ‘I needed help particularly to get the girls ready for school.’

Saira was also feeling isolated. With three younger children, including Ismaeel who also has special needs, Saira rarely managed to leave the house. As she was living with her husband’s family, she was also taking care of elderly relatives. The feeling of isolation was shared by another mother supported by Apna, Fozia. With three children, including Junaid, 6, who has a terminal illness, Fozia was finding life difficult. ‘Looking after Junaid meant that the other children were missing out.’ Both families receive home care from Apna, with visits from trained workers who speak the same language and understand their cultural needs. Workers visit them every morning to help wash, dress and feed the children. In the evening they return to help with the meal, baths and bedtime. And at weekends they take the children out, giving Saira and Fozia some time to themselves.

‘Barnardo’s has enabled me to spend time with my other children,’ says Fozia. ‘I can go out knowing Junaid is in safe hands.’

Positive outcomes

- Families’ access to help for their children is improved.
- Carers are supported.
- Asian communities are stimulated to recognise the needs of carers and develop responses.

Profile

Funding: Apna cost £382,046 last year. £62,994 came from Barnardo’s, while a contract with Glasgow City Council provided £319,052.

Working in partnership: Apna’s main partner is Glasgow City Council.

Quality assurance: Inspection from the Care Commission.

‘I love working as a volunteer in Barnardo’s. The environment is really comfortable and friendly, and the staff are very helpful. I started with the aim to gain experience in working with special children and to improve my abilities and by working here I have really achieved this.’

Mamta Kanabar, children’s services manager

Aiding achievement

We are not doing anything complicated. Apna’s success was achieved by doing simple things like speaking to families about their needs, employing bilingual workers and being sensitive to service users’ cultural differences.”
Helping children of all ages

The young people who train at Palmersville have behavioural issues, difficult personal circumstances or learning difficulties, which can make it harder to achieve qualifications with other training providers.

Malcolm, who was statemented with special needs while at school, has attended Palmersville since July 2004. He began by attending for one day per week to gain work experience in a vocational area, and after leaving school, started training full-time at Palmersville on an Entry to Employment programme. This programme involves following an NVQ Level 1 and at the same time gaining realistic experience by working in the industry. Malcolm works in the fully functional restaurant at Palmersville, which is open to the public. ‘We start early, cooking and serving breakfast for the customers which include other learners, staff and volunteers,’ he explains. ‘Then we get allocated a specific role in preparing soups, salads, sandwiches and main courses and desserts for up to 120 customers.’

‘I have gained a great deal of experience here as well as my NVQ Level 1 Basic Food Hygiene and soon my apprenticeship,’ Malcolm adds. ‘I am busy applying for jobs at the moment and would like to gain employment in this area. The staff have been excellent and have helped me tremendously.’

Positive outcomes

- Young people’s employability is increased.
- The self-confidence and social skills of young people are enhanced.
- Young people develop vocational skills.
- Basic/key skills and qualifications are acquired by young people.

A young person might say: ‘I’ve been kicked out of the house so I cannot continue with my training programme.’ Other training providers would just expect them to cope with that, whereas we talk to and support that person, enabling them to overcome any crisis they may be facing.’

Barnardo’s projects

Vocational training from 14–21

Barnardo’s provides a direction for many of the vulnerable young people it helps aged 14 to 21.

Our nine vocational training projects across the UK train young people in areas including warehousing, hairdressing, horticulture, mechanics, construction and beauty, providing a real focus for the future.
Achieving our objectives

Barnardo’s purpose is to help the most vulnerable children and young people transform their lives and fulfil their potential. Our specific objectives enable us to meet this purpose. Here we report back on progress made in 2006 and set out goals for 2007.

2006 objectives

To extend local fundraising appeals to develop a closer link between Barnardo’s work on the ground and local communities.

To expand the number of services to vulnerable children by 2 per cent.

To launch a major new campaign building upon the success of the UK Agenda.

To carry out our first audit to measure how well young people’s views are currently incorporated into services and how they can be improved.

To generate £34.8 million net from voluntary sources.

To mount a volunteer development programme across the organisation.

To achieve a revenue surplus of 0.5 per cent.

Care and Hope Appeal launched by Barnardo’s Scotland to raise £1 million in voluntary funds to build a new centre for children with disabilities in Edinburgh. Over £250,000 raised in the first year. Further appeals planned for other regions in the UK.

Number of services increased by 6 per cent from April 2005 to March 2006 from 362 to 383.

The Better Start in Life campaign appeared in national press and on billboards in May and June 2005, continuing into 2006. The major new Barnardo's campaign has been deferred until 2006/7.

An independent review of young people’s participation was carried out. It found that staff have high awareness of importance of involving children in running services, which is being translated into practice. Recommendations include one clear strategy linked to local implementation plans and guidance to improve the recording of all participation.

To generate £34.8 million net from voluntary sources.

Did we achieve our objectives?

99.3 per cent of voluntary income raising budget achieved, delivering net sum of £34.7 million to support projects.

Strategies to encourage a wider range of volunteers across all ages, genders and backgrounds, to work with us have been created. Engaging with seriously excluded and black minority ethnic communities has become a priority. Currently pioneering work with criminal justice, with a Barnardo’s workshop and retail store in a prison.

Exceeded target revenue surplus for 2005/06.

Staff turnover reduced from 12.8 per cent the previous year to 12.2 per cent in 2005/6.

2007 objectives

Increase the number of children and young people worked with from 110,000 in 2005/06.

Locate at least a quarter of all new work in the most disadvantaged communities, as measured by deprivation indices or census data.

Increase the number of projects available to children and young people across the UK.

Provide more projects which are available in the evenings or at weekends.

Generate a further £1.5 million contribution to overheads from funders.

Produce a revenue surplus of £712,000.

Obtain net voluntary income of £34.6 million.

Demonstrate the impact Barnardo’s projects are making on children's lives by producing a report on the outcomes in all projects by December 2006.

Enhance Barnardo’s ability to influence the public agenda on children’s issues through increasing the awareness of the organisation by the media, the public and legislators.

Continue to reduce staff turnover, with the aim of reaching 10 per cent by 2009.

For a full list of Barnardo’s objectives and achievements, see the Barnardo’s Annual Report and Accounts 2006.
Income and fundraising

Total gross income was £193.3 million. Our income sources were grant and fee income from local and central government, plus voluntary donations from fundraising and income from shops, trading, property and investment sources.

There was much uncertainty in the field of fundraising throughout the financial year 2005/06 including many disaster appeals which understandably attracted much public support. In this environment, Barnardo’s achieved 99.3 per cent of its voluntary income raising budget and delivered a net sum of £36.3 million to fund our children’s projects (including trading).

Expenditure and costs

Total expenditure was £193.3 million of which £154.8 million was spent on Barnardo’s work with children, £0.9 million was added to reserves and £5.4 million was spent on investment fees and property. The remainder is spent on the costs of raising voluntary income from public donations and shops and trading activities. Although we have many volunteers, much of fundraising income has to be actively earned. We are pleased that our fundraising ratios represent a small proportion of total costs, and we are efficient at raising further money with that income. As the diagram shows, for every £1 we spend on fundraising, we raise £4.33 to help vulnerable children.

Voluntary donations

For every £1 we spend on fundraising...

Out of every £1 we spend...

* If the costs of trading and property development are excluded, which are both self-financing, this rises to 94p

Money matters

The support of our statutory partners is helping us to reach more of the most vulnerable children. However, your donations continue to play a vital role in funding Barnardo’s projects for children. This income gives us the independence to meet needs which are unrecognised by statutory bodies.

Summary accounts

These summarised financial statements are a summary of information extracted from the full statutory Annual Report and Accounts. They may not contain sufficient information to allow a full understanding of the financial affairs of the charity. For further information, Barnardo’s Annual Report and Accounts should be consulted. Copies can be obtained from Barnardo’s head office.

The annual accounts were approved on 27 July 2006 and have been delivered to the Charity Commission and the Registrar of Companies. The accounts have been audited by a qualified auditor, KPMG LLP, who gave an audit opinion which was unqualified and did not include a statement required under section 237 (2) and (3) of the Companies Act 1985.

On behalf of the directors/trustees of Barnardo’s, Geoffrey Barnett, Honorary Treasurer.

Our reserves policy

Barnardo’s reserve policy strikes a balance between the need to use voluntary income to provide services for children and the need to ensure that, once a commitment has been given to a child or their family, sufficient funds exist to meet this commitment for as long as it is required and appropriate.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and auditors

The board of trustees has accepted responsibility for the preparation of the summarised financial statements. Our responsibility is to report to the charity our opinion on the consistency of the summarised financial statements on pages 14 to 17 within the Annual Review with the statutory Annual Report and Accounts.

We also read the other information contained within the Annual Review and consider the implications for our report if we become aware of any apparent misstatements or material inconsistencies with the summarised financial statements.

Basis of opinion

We conducted our work having regard to Bulletin 1999/1 ‘The auditor’s statement on the summary financial statement issued by the Auditing Practices Board for use in the United Kingdom. Our separate report on the charity’s statutory Annual Report and Accounts for the year ended 31 March 2006 describes the basis of our statutory audit opinion on those Accounts.

Our reserves policy

Barnardo’s reserves policy strikes a balance between the need to use voluntary income to provide services for children and the need to ensure that, once a commitment has been given to a child or their family, sufficient funds exist to meet this commitment for as long as it is required and appropriate.

We would like to thank all our supporters for their generous donations. Without this vital financial support, we would not be able to run our projects for the UK’s most vulnerable children and young people.
How you can help

If you would like to help vulnerable children, young people and their families, you can:

■ Volunteer in our shops, our offices or work directly with children.
■ Make a donation. You can make a one-off or regular donation online, via our website, by phone or by post.
